People and the middle class. Representative Mary Kay Scanlon, a Democrat who represents the district in Pennsylvania, said that was what she would talk about when she was in office.

"We keep seeing new and more data about the recession that the economy is in," she said. "What has happened is that we have seen a lot of layoffs and layoffs that are not just temporary, but they are permanent."

Members of the House Intelligence Committee have begun discussing whether to subpoena Mr. Bolton. The White House says it is reviewing the publication of his book, according to a senior administration official. Above: a rally for Joseph R. Biden Jr., in Sparks, Nev., last month. A plan to use the app technology that failed in Iowa was abandoned.

BY JENNIFER MEDINA

In the hours after the Iowa caucuses on Feb. 3, officials with the Nevada Democratic Party watched cable news with increasing alarm. That is that used in Iowa to count the results of their own caucuses two weeks later. Their questions to Nevada officials and the developers of the app were answered by the Nevada Democratic Party.

By early in the morning, Nevada Democrats had scrapped plans to use the app, issuing a statement that confirmed the app was not working.

What happened in Nevada? Officials with the Nevada Democratic Party said the app was not working because of a bug in the code. The app was designed to allow voters to cast their ballots from their smartphones, but a bug in the code prevented the app from working.

After the debacle that emerged in Iowa, campaigns are worried — even while state party officials offer their assurances.

"We're not hearing a whole lot, and we're growing increasingly frustrated," said one presidential campaign official who spoke on the condition of anonymity. "We were trying to be very conversational about the app, but all we've heard is that it's not working."

At least 2,000 caucusgoers in Iowa were told that the app was not working, and many of them were told to go to the polls in person. The app was designed to allow voters to cast their ballots from their smartphones, but a bug in the code prevented the app from working.

CERMONIES

ōmisoka

December 31 is arguably one of the most significant dates on the Japanese calendar known as ōmisoka (the last day before New Year eve "Oshōgatsu").ōmisoka stands as the final day to bring any unfinished business to a close and prevent the misfortunes of one year from spilling over to the next. People clean and decorate their homes in this day; so it would be a really busy day.

FOOD

Families gather on Ōmisoka for one last time in the old year to have a bowl of toshikoshi-soba or toshikoshi-udon, a tradition based on eating the long noodles to cross over from one year to the next.

OSOUJI (THE GREAT CLEANING)

shimekazari is another common sight in this season at homes, shops, and Shintō shrines.

THE BELL

Most Buddhist temples have large cast bells that are struck once for each of the 108 earthly desires believed to cause human suffering (Monks ring the bell 108 times before New Year on Ōmisoka day).

Yalda night

Yalda night also known as Chelleh night is one of the ancient Persian festivals annually celebrated by Iranians all around the world. Yalda is a winter solstice celebration; it is the last night of fall and the longest night of the year.

Yalda means birth. Since days get longer and nights get shorter in winter, Iranians celebrate the last night of autumn as the renewal of the sun and the victory of light over darkness. On Yalda night, people gather in groups of friends or relatives usually at the home of grandparents or the elderly to pass the longest night of the year happily by eating nuts and fruits, reading Hafiz poems, making good wishes, and talking and laughing all together to give a warm welcome to winter, and a felicitous farewell to autumn.

The history of Yalda night dates back to ancient civilizations. But the exact time is unknown. From the ancient earthenware jars with animal drawings on them, some archaeologists guess Yalda night dates back to 7,000 years ago.

However, what is known as Yalda night dates back to about 500 BC. Yalda entered in the official calendar of the ancient Iranians during the reign of Darius I. A calendar which is derived from the Babylonian and Egyptian chronicles.

According to ancient traditions in the ancient Persian religion, on the first day of "Day (month)", kings went to a desert in white clothes without their crowns and sat on a white carpet, and all the guards, gatekeepers of the royal palace and the servants and slaves could go to the city and live like everyone else. They were all in the same stand, whether the chief or the king or the common people.

Biography of Charlie Chaplin, King of Comedy

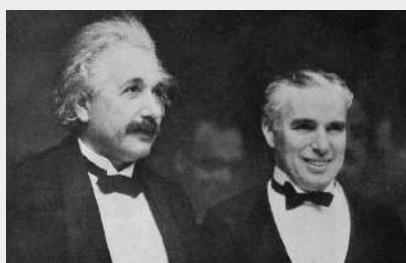

Charlie Chaplin
(16 April 1889 – 25 December 1977)

Charlie Chaplin

He was a great musician and composer. He composed the music for many of his own movies. He also won an oscar for the music in "Limelight"

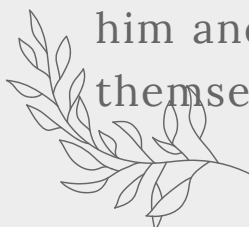

Albert Einstein was a guest of honor during the premiere of Chaplin's movie City Lights in Los Angeles on the 2nd February 1931

Sir Charles Spencer Chaplin was an English comic actor, filmmaker, composer, musician and one of the most important figures in the history of film industry.

He was born on April 16th, 1889 _only 4 days before Hitler birth!_.

Both his mother and father were artist. But the early death of father and illness of mother when he was a child. forced him and his brother, Sydney, to fend for themselves.

First, He and his brother started to work in the old music hall which their parents had been working before. When he was at the age of 12, he got his first chance to act in a legitimate stage show, and played as “Billy” the newsboy in Sherlock Holmes.

He became more famous with his characterization in a sketch named “A night in an English music hall” in the US.

In 1914, He acted 3 films with Keystone Studio and reached to a big success. For his second appearance in front of the camera (second film), Chaplin selected a costume which became identified with. He described the process of making costume in his autobiography:

I wanted everything to be a contradiction: the pants baggy, the coat tight, the hat small and the shoes large ... I added a small mustache, which, I reasoned, would add age without hiding my expression. I had no idea of the character. But the moment I was dressed, the clothes and the makeup made me feel the person he was. I began to know him, and by the time I walked on stage he was fully born.

"People applaud me because everyone understands what I mean, and they applaud you because no one understands what you mean." Chaplin told Einstein during a meeting.

Teenage Chaplin in the play 'Sherlock Holmes'

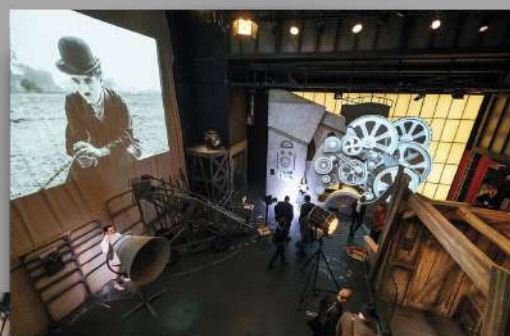

He made many famous films such as “Modern times” (1936), “City lights” (1931), “The great dictator” (1940), “The kid” (1921), “The gold rush” (1925), “The Circus” (1928), “Limelight” (1952), “A King In New York” (1957)

He died on Christmas day (25th December), 1977.

BOSSABALL

Is the ultimate mix of soccer tricks, volley skills and extreme gymnastics topped with exotic tunes

RULES (HOW TO PLAY)

Similar to Volleyball, the objective in Bossaball is to ground the ball on the opponent's side of the court. This relatively new sport is essentially a game of volleyball infused with gymnastics and football techniques. However, there are differences that between them. According to the Bossaball of Singapore, the followings are official Bossaball rules for tournaments:

- +There are two opposing teams comprise of 4 to 6 players in each group
- +Only 1 person is allowed to be in the trampoline section on each side of the court (for safety reasons)
- +Each team is allowed to touch the ball for 5 times before sending the ball to opponent's side.
- +Players can use any parts of their body – like hands, head, or feet – to touch the ball.
- +Players can touch the ball once with their hands (each time). However, a second consecutive touch (with hand) is allowed by the same player. But other players must use other parts of their body (such as their legs or head) to hit the ball. Such touches are generally referred to as “soccer touch”.
- +When the attacking shot lands on the inflatable areas of the opponent's court, team scores 1 or 3 points.
- +When the attacking shot lands on the trampoline section of the opponent's court, team will get 3 or 5 points.
- +The winner is the first team to reach 25 points.

What's Bossaball :

BOSSABALL IS AN EXCITING AND ALSO UNKNOWN ACROBATIC AND ENERGETIC SPORT PLAYED WITH SPECIAL MUSIC INCORPORATING ELEMENTS OF VOLLEYBALL, FOOTBALL AND GYMNASTICS. A GAME OF BOSSABALL IS PLAYED ON A SPECIAL DESIGNED INFLATABLE PLATFORM INTEGRATED WITH TRAMPOLINES IN THE MIDDLE.

Although it can be played without music (Bossa Nova tunes), it is one of the main part of the game and would sets the rhythm of the game. So it's better to play it with music.

The name for the sport is actually derived from Bossa Nova, which is a samba-influenced Brazilian music. So, naturally, the referees or DJs (referee is also the DJ) are called samba referees.

STORY

QUARANTINE DAIRY

In this quarantine, I had to face some new things like online classes or being stocked at home. But I did a lot of things to make this bad time flow faster.

1. For example, I tried to cook! I searched YouTube and found some coffee recipes and also learned how to make Red velvet cake!

2. Besides that, I tried exercising and it was super fun and also fat burning. I really wanted to do that sooner but quarantine gave me the time to work out.

3. The newest thing that I faced at this time was online classes. I never thought that online classes can be this much fun and also this much hard. It's hard because of the loss of eye contact you can't learn as much as a real class and the fun part of it is that you can go to class on your bed. This was my wish for more than 11 years!

4. The next fun thing that I tried was professional gaming. I started to play Assassin's Creed Odyssey. It's hard but even with that it's still fun and a good way to fill your free time even after quarantine.

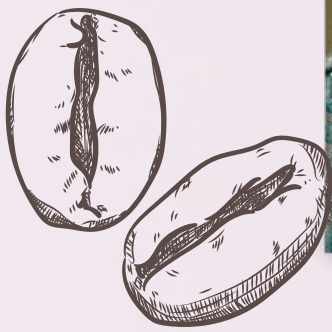

But this quarantine has a very bad point and that is depression. For Introverted ones it's not that much hard to stay at home; they even like it! But for Extroverted people, it's very hard to just stay at home and gazing at the TV.

But maybe this quarantine is a time for giving ourselves a break and think about ourselves more. Recognize ourselves or more; love ourselves.

Waitomo Glowworm Caves

The Waitomo Glowworm Caves attraction is a cave at Waitomo on the North Island of New Zealand. It is known for its population of Arachnocampa luminosa, a glowworm species found exclusively in New Zealand.

Purpose:

The Earth
Earth is a familiar word for us. But how much we know about it? From the past, some things were clear to people, but some others were not. Humans were scared of strange things. So they made fetishes, to explain the reason for marvelous events. The more technologies improve, the more scientists discovered the scientific reason for some strange events. We wanted to show you some terrifying places, strange things and events in the past.

Socotra is unlike anywhere else: a zoological and botanical treasure trove, and a refuge for relic species that died out long ago elsewhere.

Lake Natron

The ghastly Lake Natron, in northern Tanzania, is a salt lake—meaning that water flows in, but doesn't flow out, so it can only escape by evaporation. Over time, as water evaporates, it leaves behind high concentrations of salt and other minerals, like at the Dead Sea and Utah's Great Salt Lake.

The beauty of the crimson waters of Natron Lake is astounding. But the picture turns out to be an uncanny one with the sight of dead animals apparently turned to stone.

Bleeding trees

An island named Socotra is famous because of its dragon's blood trees. One version of the local legend surrounding its origin says it grew from the blood of two brothers fighting to the death; another that it was created from the blood of a dragon that was injured fighting an elephant. It's an odd and alien-looking tree, with thick, knotted branches sprawling out to form an umbrella-shaped covering. These skyward-facing leaves collect condensation from the mists that roll along the clifftops and high plateaus of the interior. The trunk is thick and gnarled but, when sliced open, it bleeds a resin of deep crimson; the blood, perhaps, of the injured dragon. It has a variety of uses.
